

CONCERT WAS FINE IN THE CHORUS WORK

DR. PROTHERO FAILED TO COME AND HIS PARTS WERE SUNG BY REV. IVINS.

NOT A LARGE CROWD

Sios Were a Delight To The Audience and Brought Enthusiastic Applause From All.

The concert of the Mozart Club Thursday night was up to its high standard of excellence. The audience was small, probably on account of the Center Township Commencement at the same hour. The club showed the result of thorough drill and their singing would have done credit to any city. The ladies chorus, "The Bells of Aberdovey" was especially pleasing.

Our Plymouth soloists reflected credit on themselves and Prof. Owens. They were: Hubert Tanner, Julia Yockey, Blanche McCoy, Ralph Leonard and Rev. Ivins. Many people in Plymouth were not aware of what a fine voice Rev. Ivins has and the discovery of his talent in this line afforded the audience much pleasure. Miss Ferrell Shaffer presided ably at the piano.

Margaret Watts Owens, the eighteen year old daughter of Prof. Owens, delighted her hearers with her sweet voice and unaffected manner in a soprano solo.

Dr. Daniel Prothero of Chicago, who was to have been present, sent a telegram that he would be unable to come on account of sickness. It was a great disappointment to those who had counted on hearing him.

Aviation Meet at Elkhart

The first Aviation Meet to be held in Northern Indiana and Southern Michigan will be staged by the Driving Club at Elkhart on May 19th, 20th and 21st. This will be the first chance the people of this vicinity will have to see the bird men. The aviators will make four flights each afternoon and for the feature on Friday, Aviator McGrainer will try to break the world's record for an altitude flight and Saturday he will race a sixty horse power automobile. Besides the flights made by the aeroplanes, there will be automobile and motorcycle races, band concerts, fancy drills and novelty features to keep the spectators entertained every minute they are on the grounds.

Plymouth, South Bend and the Suit

A Plymouth lady was on the train returning from South Bend. A fellow citizen, feminine gender, was on the same train and spying each other they soon fell into the pleasantest of conversation.

"By the way, somebody has an awfully pretty new suit. Did you get it today in South Bend? I saw so many a good deal like it in the windows there today."

"Me! Oh, no! I bought this a year ago in Plymouth," replied the proud wearer of the gown in question, doubly well suited now.

Just as good goods as the big city and a year earlier—That's what Plymouth can do.

Guard for Aeroplanes.

Company "E" of the Indiana National Guard have accepted the invitation extended them by the Driving Club to be the official guard over the aeroplanes to be used in the Aviation Meet to be held at Elkhart on May 19th, 20th and 21st. These flights will probably draw the largest crowds ever assembled in Northern Indiana. Each afternoon, Clifford Cole, the popular baritone will sing with the band which will be quite a novelty.

Elkhart Ready to Entertain.

Elkhart is getting ready to entertain the large crowds that will be in attendance of the Aviation Meet to be held at the Driving Park on May 19th, 20th and 21st. The Northern Indiana Railway Co. has promised thirty extra cars to transport the people back and forth from the grounds. Comparatively few people in this part of the country have seen the aeroplane, the first machine to solve the problem of aerial navigation and the flights at Elkhart will be watched with interest if not with amazement.

Do You Want to Help Pay the Rent?

Did you ever stop to think how much more it costs to keep up a store in a place like South Bend than in a place like Plymouth?

More for wages, because it costs the help more to live in a larger place, more for rent, more for advertising, more for everything. The merchant makes about the same profit on his goods in either place. Who helps pay the extra expenses of the big city store? You do, if you trade there.

Former Plymouthites Rusticating.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble are spending a two weeks vacation with the latter's mother, at Memphis, Tenn. Daily cards to friends here indicate a fine city where once was the home of yellow fever and kindred diseases. It has been made a city of beautiful parks and drives that are a delight and is also a busy city, bustling for business.

Apollo Club Dance.

The Apollo Club boys gave a dance at the K. of P. Hall Friday evening, and although not a very large crowd was in attendance, those who were present enjoyed themselves immensely. Music was furnished by Mrs. C. V. Reynolds and Ralph Bowell.

LAYING NEW GAS MAINS ON MANY STREETS

NORTHERN INDIANA GAS & ELECTRIC CO. IS BUSY PREPARING TO SUPPLY NEW CUSTOMERS.

ALL FOUR INCH PIPES

Lines Are Being Laid In the Alleys Instead of Streets—Reach North Limits of the City.

The Plymouth branch of the Northern Indiana Gas & Electric Co. is very busy these days laying new mains to supply gas to consumers. There is now in process of completion nearly a mile of these new pipes and they will reach a large number of new consumers. All the pipes are four inches in size.

One has been laid beginning at Harrison street on north Michigan, east to the alley, and north in the alley for several hundred feet. The main in the alley just west of Michigan street runs from Harrison to the north limits of the city on Novelt street. Other mains are 1100 feet on Sophia street east from the paving; on east Garro street east of the river to connect with Liberty street; on south Sixth street south from South street 675 feet to the railway tracks; on north Walnut a half block to Novelt street; on north Third street from Washington to Adams streets; on Adams from the Lake Erie to Fifth street.

The total length of new main is nearly a mile and will serve a large number of consumers.

SOLVING THE NUISANCE OF CITY GARBAGE

REFUSE IS WRAPPED IN PAPER AND PLACED IN CANS FOR THE CITY COLLECTOR.

MINNEAPOLIS PLAN

Easy to Handle and Haul to Crematory Where All Goes to Ashes—No Flies or Moisture.

Minneapolis is blazing a new trail. She has found out that no city that wants to be a clean city can neglect its garbage handling, and she has gone to work to set a pace for the rest of us. The real beauty of it, too, is that she has solved the garbage problem—or more nearly solved it than has anybody else, up to date. She may be said to stand first in the list of cities in America in the solution of sanitary disposal of refuse and other towns are sending delegations to inspect this garbage system. Winnipeg has already patterned after it.

Nearly four years ago this campaign to handle garbage without nuisance was started and today it is pronounced an unqualified success. No more are there foul, maggoty garbage cans and all because a city ordinance provides that every housewife shall drain the garbage of all moisture and wrap it in a paper before putting it in the can. This not only insures a clean can but the spaces between the paper allow the air to circulate and keep the garbage from freezing and adhering to the can in cold seasons. In other words, heat, moisture and the fly are all eliminated. Any kind of paper can be used but as a rule there is plenty of wrapping paper that comes around packages from the grocer and butcher, as well as old newspapers, that the housewife is glad to get rid of. That all this may be done properly the Board of Health issues a printed card of directions for the housewife and advises that it be hung in her kitchen.

But this is only an important introduction to the story of the garbage system which is being adopted by a large city as a unit. When the garbage man comes around to collect his quota he finds a clean can, he is not faced with wet and dripping refuse and in cold weather he does not take a pick and batter the can in order to lift the frozen material. He merely loads the prepared garbage into a steel box, somewhat resembling a bat tub, and which has one hundred feet capacity. He hauls this to a central transfer station, where the tanks are lifted off the wagon truck by means of an electric hoist and placed upon flat cars which convey them to the crematory or disposal plant. A train of several cars soon reaches the crematory just outside the city, where the boxes are lifted from the cars by an electric hoist and dumped directly into the fire. In other words, from the time the garbage is rolled in paper by the housewife until the ashes are taken from the fire of the disposal plant there is no necessity for the refuse to be handled by hand. As the paper used to wrap the packages is as a rule, waste material, this too is disposed of and the sanitary condition of the cans and reduction in bulk of the waste, because drained, make the necessity for collection less frequent—a saving in money to the city.—From "Solving the Garbage Nuisance," in June Technical World Magazine.

Will Move to Logansport.

W. G. Hendricks was in the city Sunday and says that his family will move this week to Logansport. Mrs. Hendricks will be taken to the hospital there for treatment. She has been ill for some time.

Mr. Hendricks has bought an interest in the Hendricks Bros. job printing plant there, and the business is pushing ahead with vigor, their plant being now the largest in the city and having all the work they can handle.

Barn Burns at Argos.

A small barn, the first building south of the water-work's plant, in Argos caught fire Thursday evening at five thirty. The fire was started by some children who were playing in the barn with matches. About $35 worth of damage was done, and there was no insurance to cover the loss.

About 1 o'clock Saturday a pile of rubbish in the rear of Ormond's saloon caught fire in some unknown way, but was soon extinguished with but little damage.

F. M. LEMERT IS LIBERATED BY THE JURY

TEEGARDEN MAN ON TRIAL FOR SECOND OFFENSE OF VIOLATING LIQUOR LAWS IS ACQUITTED.

DETECTIVE EVIDENCE

Hon. F. E. Bowser of Warsaw, Acted as Special Judge in Case. Lauer Flays Witness.

In the Circuit Court Friday before Judge F. E. Bowser, of Warsaw and a jury Francis M. Lemert, of Teegarden, was tried on a charge of selling intoxicating liquors without a license, the village of Teegarden being in dry territory. The State's case rested on the testimony of one, Jacob Yochum, of Laporte, Ind., who on cross examination admitted he was a self constituted detective and who said he expected to get mileage and witness fees out of the case anyway. The evidence of Yochum was contradicted by the defendant, Lemert, and by some other circumstances and the jury could not and did not believe him and acquitted Lemert after two hours deliberation.

A laughable incident to the trial was the presence in court of the so called enbrand liquors consisting of a half pint of very poor whiskey and two pint bottles of stale colorless liquid supposed to be and testified to be beer by Yochum, and while the prosecutor was exhibiting it to the jury it foamed up and ran over the court room floor.

Mr. L. M. Lauer represented Lemert and in his argument before the jury castigated Yochum unmercifully, likening him unto Judas who sold the master for a few paltry pieces of silver and went after the whole detective business without gloves.

The state was represented by prosecutor Unger who made the best of the case supported solely by detective evidence. If Lemert had been convicted his sentence would have been a jail penalty as it was a charge for a second offense.

An Army of Wild Ponies.
The wild horses living on the sand banks of the North Carolina lagoons are the descendants of horses left behind by Sir Walter Raleigh's colonists when they abandoned Roanoke Island. On these banks sea oats with luxuriant heads grow quite profusely, and these are an article of food green or ripe. No one knows exactly the number of these ponies, but there are said to be more than 3,000 of them now on the banks.

Kitchen Wisdom.

Charles Banard, head of the House-keeping Station at Darien, Conn., is the author of the following legends "designed the real art of cookery with some of its due interest and dignity." They are for sale at five cents each in a form suitable for hanging on the kitchen wall and if you think one of them would elevate your culinary labors, you may obtain one from him. He is the author also of a number of helpful bulletins and answers inquiries upon household subjects upon application. The legends are:

1. A cheerful cook makes a fine dessert.
2. Stir a smile into the pudding.
3. "I forgot"—spoiled the broth.
4. Flavor the salad with oil of loving kindness.
5. Plain cooking—handsome children.
6. Good service is half the dinner.
7. Guess—and ruin the cake.
8. Cleanliness IS Godliness. Nature is clean.
9. A merry heart makes light pasty.
10. Clean hands and white bread.
11. Order, Cleanliness and Knowledge—these three; and the greatest of these is Knowledge.
12. The hand that stirs the batter rules the world.

GRIM PARTNERS.

The Graft Scheme "Death and the Devil" Tried to Work.

An extraordinary case of official roguery is reported in the Bavarian press. A peasant woman named Kroll, living at Wagsellie, received a notification from a local bank that her husband, who was in America, had remitted her $250, says the London Sketch. She was requested to bring evidence of identification.

Frau Kroll applied to the local magistrate, who said that his personal certificate would be enough and advised her to tell so one about the remittance. The same night into Frau Kroll's cottage came two frightfully got up monsters, who introduced themselves as the "Devil" and his brother "Death." The "Devil" explained that Herr Kroll had come by the $250 dishonestly and that unless it was given to him he would hand over Frau Kroll to the tender mercies of "Death."

Next morning Frau Kroll applied for the money at the bank. She informed the clerk that she intended to pay the money to the "Devil." The clerk paid out the money, but secretly informed the gendarmery.

A few hours later the "Devil" and "Death" duly arrived at the cottage. Frau Kroll begged to be allowed to keep $10 of the money, but the "Devil" was inexorable, and the pair made off with the $250.

Hardly had they left the cottage when they were pounced on by the gendarmes and arrested. The "Devil" proved to be the magistrate and "Death" a local resident whom he had chosen as accomplice.
